BREED THEATER

The Battle, Today's Powerful Feature Picture.

The magnificent story of the Battle of the Marston, a grand epic, is as wholesome and interesting as any literature of the day, and enacted amid charming southern surroundings.

Every story naturally weaves itself into our beings with a tenacity that refuses to release us until we have seen the picture. The story is so gripping and so dramatic, which result in his being proclaimed the leader of the nation in this position, he proves by his actions, he is amply fitted for.

In the days of old how many of the brave soldiers were urged to deeds of valor and heroism by thoughts of "the girl left behind." This story tells of the transforming of a weak-hearted coward into a lion-hearted hero by the devotion of the girl he loved. This tale takes place outside her home and he is panic stricken, rushes in trembling with fear, to his home, and he is scorn and commands him to go back and fight. Her fortitude inspires him and he becomes a hero.

Ladies' Aid Society Gives Supper and Entertainment—Sunday School Gives Thanksgiving Concert.

Miss Bagley, who has been ill at her home, is improving.

There was a good attendance at the Ladies' Aid society supper last Friday night. The music rendered by Mrs. Lovelace at the piano, Miss Fuller with violin and Andrew Bagley with cornet was a pleasing feature.

Miss Fuller of Monson, Mass., gave a reading which was enjoyed by all. She read a beautiful Christmas story which decorated the piano.

Thanksgiving Concert.
Instead of the regular service Sunday morning there was a Sunday school Thanksgiving concert. There was a fine exhibition of fruit, flowers and vegetables, and children recited and sang very nicely. Mr. Lovelace made a pleasing address to the children upon New England Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Howard, Eugene Walker and Miss Frances Walker went to the opening of the new Blanchard's theater at Southbridge Tuesday evening and enjoyed the play "Ourselves." It was said this theater in Southbridge is the finest in Worcester county.

George Koester and Miss Susie Kiser were married one day last week. Relatives and friends tendered them a reception at the home of the bride's mother.

Miss Anna Lombard is confined to her home with a slight attack of grip.

Fred Austin and Alton Small of the Whitcomb club were at their cottage all last week, hunting and fishing.

Dr. Putney of Milford, Conn., and his son, who is in the regular army, passed through here on Monday looking up the places the doctor knew when a boy.

Alec Bouvier and family passed Monday in Worcester calling on relatives and friends.

Miss Annie C. Spaulding, who spent last week Friday in Northampton, Mass., returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Bliss of Hampton, Mass., spent two days last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Kay.

Mrs. John Fairbanks is ill with tonsillitis.

Miss Florence Hooker and brother Charles of Worcester spent two days last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hooker.

The Sunday school has elected the following committee for a Christmas tree and concert: Mrs. E. E. Entom, Mrs. Charles Smith, Missie, Mrs. John M. Carthy, Missie, C. F. Williams, G. M. Williams, Missie, Nellie, Dagdale, Bertha Belcher and Berrie Marchant; gift purchaser, Mrs. Grant Harnum.

THE CHILDREN UP IN HEAVEN.
"And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls who live in the streets thereof."—Zephaniah viii, 2.

"Oh, what do you think the angels say?"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"

"God wanted her here where his little ones meet!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"

"So the King called down from the clouds!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up in heaven!"
"Hail the children up
